and hold their colors better than any other carpets.

They are handsomer than most ether carpets, because of the fine quality material in their texture, and because of the fact that they take the dyes better than the cheaper goods—thus producing a fine, true shade.

There is the same proportion of difference between a Wilton Carpet and the cheaper carpets as there is between a painting by Rembrandt and one by a beginner.

Cupid in the Old-Time Way-

Society is rapidly disintegrating. Departures are getting numerous, and, while many faces are turned homeward, others leaving here only temporarily, for a little change of scene. The sadness among congressional no longer is a very real article. Whatever opinion the heads of the households may have, the ladies are always sorry to leave Washington when their brief day of social glory has come to an end. The pace at the last of the gayeties was of the sort which, if it does not kill, wearies beyond description. Is there any reason, therefore, that those who can are taking advantage of the chance to get away and rest themselves amid more novel surroundings? surroundings?

Mrs. Don Cameron started south last mis. Don Cameron started south last night with a party of young people, including Miss Hay, and her guests will rusticate with her on the Cameron plantation. Mrs. Cameron has been here very little the past winter, and lately has been nursing a sick relative out in Ohio.

No couple has left Washington at the end of Congress of whom more delightful things have been said in parting than ex-senator and Mrs. Manderson. They are in New York for a ten-days' stay and will go home to Omaha, where a lucrative pos-tion awaits Mr. Manderson. Senator Murphy, with his daughter and guest, Miss De Freest of Troy, went down to Fort Monroe last night. The Misses Brice received yesterday afternoon and had many callers. Mrs. Brice, feeling greatly fatigued, did not come down. The family intend being in New York later on this month.

Ex-Senator and Mrs. Dolph went out to Portland, Ore., last week to rejoin their Mr. and Mrs. Outhwaite have obligations

Mr. and Mrs. Outhwaite have obligations keeping them here quite as binding as the former's congressional duties used to be. They are the guests of honor at dinners night after night, among their round of acquaintances. Tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. Seaton Perry give them a dinner. They will hardly get away much before the date of their sailing for the old world, March 20.

Ex-Senator and Mrs. McPherson are up in northern New York visiting relatives, and will be gone about ten days.

in northern New York visiting relatives, and will be gone about ten days.

It always takes two or three afternoon tea gatherings before a bit of news gets thoroughly distributed, all the little bare spots nicely filled in and the whole idea well furnished and properly presented. It goes without saying that it would be simply impossible for two feminine heads to get together nowadays and not discuss the Leiter-Curzon engagement. As the courtship could not be watched here the girls have sifted it down to get the romance. And they have succeeded. There is more reason than it was ever supposed in saying that this marriage is likely to be the happiest of international alliances, for the handsome young lady and the honorable M. P. fell in love four years ago. Then the present Lord Scarsdale was an humble minister, and being a second son, his inheritance of the title was a contingency not to be thought of at all, and so could not possibly have added any glamor to the love making of his son. More than that, the happy couple, who are receiving congratulations from friends all over the world, were really engaged a year ago, in the good old American style—hearts first. Mr. Curzon will only be in this country about jen days when he comes next month to claim his bride, and almost immediately after the wedding they will return to England. Mr. Curzon's duties in parliament will not permit him a longer stay, even for such an important event as his wedding.

AFFAIRS IN GEORGETOWN. Local Happenings of Interest Told in

The movement toward the erection of a monument to the "Star Spangled Ban-ner's" author, Francis Scott Key, who formerly lived here, and whose old man-sion near the Aqueduct bridge is one of the historical sights of the town, is assuming practical proportions in Frederick where his body lies. Eighteen hundred dollars toward the necessary fund have been collect ed. So far, the money subscribed has come principally from the pockets of Maryland-ers, but the interest is now spreading among the several states, and help will be soon given by school children, who have been appealed to by the patriotic promoters. Four hundred dollars were added to the fund last week in Frederick through the presentation of an operetta.

Key's monument at present is only a marble slab, three or four feet high, and very unpretentious. It is over his grave in Mt. Olivet cemetery. The projected shaft will be worthy of the man, whose composition is the favorite patriotic song of the nation.

It is proposed to lay the foundation of the monument next September. on the occasion of the sesquicentennial of Frederick. moters. Four hundred dollars were added
